When I saw the name of the game, I was just attracted to the game at once. I do not think Sega is going to let the gamers play any other game this year. The graphics and the theme of Universe at War Earth Assault is just amazing. The orange screen will take your heads off when you will feel the ultimate experience of the game.

The game is exclusively for XBOX360, and believe me, it can be played at its best only on XBOX 360. The enemies and the creatures in the game make it look more powerful and amazing for the gamers.

Universe at War Earth Assault is one of the finest games of this year, and I am quite sure that you will also like the theme and the fun playing this game. Also the cross-platform functionality is not available on the PC and the XBOX 360 platform which is going to be launched in April.
