I have been playing games for quite some time. However, Emergency Mayhem really of a kind. If you play the game, only then you are going to know about the cool graphics and the strategies in the game.

Basically you have to manage the main emergency services in the city like fire, police and other related departments.

Actually you will not find the exact fun in these words. You will only get to know about the Emergency Mayhem and the ultimate fun inside it, once you play it. This is due to the reason that this game is basically different from many other games.
